

VICE PRESIDENT'S REPORT
NOVEMBER 2021

Fellow Members,

As another year comes to a close, it is pleasing to see the resilience of AIMS despite the obvious challenge of limited seminars and events due to COVID. We were however, able to run several regional seminars successfully early in the year. The unanimous response of delegates at these seminars was an unmasked enthusiasm and a relief to get the long-awaited networking with fellow professionals. I am sure you join me in hoping that will be the normal again in 2022.

After many years on the executive I am standing down to make way for some new blood. I thank all those on the executive past, present and future that have and will continue to make AIMS the premier mine surveying organisation in the country. The addition of increased energy, new ideas from the next generation together with the experience of longer term leaders and Survey Board Representatives is exciting to be around and I wish them every success for the future.

Little else to report from my desk other than I look forward to seeing you all in person next year.

Yours Sincerely

Mick Harris
AIMS Vice President
